

URGES WILSON TO STICK TO PROGRAM

Senator La Follette in Editorial Intimates Interests Are Trying to Intimidate President

SAYS FINAL TEST IS AT HAND

Urges People to Reassure Executive that the Public Will Sustain Him

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Senator La Follette urges President Wilson to take courage and carry forward the program he had mapped out at the commencement of his administration. In an editorial in La Follette's Weekly, the senator intimates that big business is attempting to intimidate the president from going farther with his campaign.

Interests Resisted

"Installed in office ten months ago, President Wilson turned at once to the performance of his great task," says Senator La Follette. "Congress was summoned. The tariff was reduced. It was a long, hard struggle. The interests resisted. They threatened to strike back, to cut wages, to discharge employees. And wages were cut. Labor in many districts was put on half time. Thousands of workmen were discharged. The 'squeeze' has been on for months. It is whispered that the private records of the National Manufacturers' association show that within ninety days 200,000 wage earners have been thrown out of employment. The association did not publish this information. Doubtless it has been apprehensive that too intimate a knowledge, might imply concerted action in bringing such conditions about. And the association is 'lying low' for the present. But 200,000 wage earners idle means a loss of more than half a million dollars a day to the men alone—fifteen or twenty million in wages every month. A great big fact like that, judiciously handled, could be converted into a tremendous amount of political pressure. So it was permitted to leak through the proper channels to reach those close to the president.

Democrats Nervous

"It is an open secret that the administration and the democratic leaders of the senate and house have been very nervous for many weeks. They have heard the growl of idle labor. They fear the effect of a season of business depression upon the approaching congressional elections. Hence the haste for the passage of a currency bill; hence the kind of a currency bill that would be acceptable to the big bankers; hence all this talk about compromising with the great combinations—'fixing things up' without going to court. Hence no more is heard about the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against trust officials; hence no more threats to 'break up criminal commercial conspiracies, to reduce the high cost of living.' 'The final test of the administration is at hand. President Wilson should be reassured. He should be made to feel that if he keeps faith with the public, the public will sustain him.

PLAN MOOSE CANDIDATE

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 9.—Second Iowa district progressives will put C. P. Hanley of Muscatine into the congressional race on the bull moose ticket, if plans for a convention January 19 at Davenport are carried out as contemplated today at the state conference of progressive leaders here.

STYLISH FIGURE DEFECTIVE TYPE

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 9.—That the present ideal woman of fashion is a recognized type of physical defective was the statement of Dr. Richard Root Smith, of Grand Rapids, before the race betterment congress. To prove his contention he showed stereopticons of scores of women, all with the same characteristics—the long thin neck, thin chest, flat muscles and slender, shapeless limbs, and straight back. To these photographs he compared the statues of Venus de Milo and Venus de Medici, showing how the perfect woman of all ages was possessed of well rounded limbs, deep chest, full muscles and enough fat to make her shapely. He declared that the present type of defective woman could be eliminated by modern exercises and teachings in the public schools.

GOVERNOR SAYS HE CAN'T END STRIKE

Acknowledges Helplessness to Put Stop to Trouble in Calumet Copper District

RUMOR BREAK WITH BERGER

Declared Former Socialist Congressman and Moyer Have Had Split

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 9.—The Michigan copper strike will have to "wear out" according to Governor Ferris, who acknowledged his inability to bring the warring factions together, was expected to depart this afternoon for Lansing. That he has some plan to force a settlement was indicated, however, by his statement that "subsequent events" might cause a sudden termination of the dispute. Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who returned to the copper country yesterday, was still guarded today by a dozen deputy sheriffs. Rumors of a break between Moyer and former socialist congressman, Victor Berger of Milwaukee, were circulated here today. Berger was advertised as the headliner of a labor mass meeting to be held this afternoon in the Finnish socialist hall at Hancock, but after a conference with Moyer, he departed suddenly from the strike district.

Berger Denies Break

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 9.—Denial of the published reports that the socialist committee, headed by himself, was given a "cold shoulder" by the striking copper miners in the Calumet & Hecla district was the statement made by former Congressman Victor L. Berger, when he returned from Hancock and Houghton at noon today.

Berger returned with pessimistic reports concerning the condition in the strike ridden district. He said indications are for a fight to the finish with practically no chance for a compromise.

To Ask Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Investigation of the Calumet copper strike by the senate committee on education and labor will be asked in a resolution which Senator Ashurst announced today he will introduce in the senate next week.

PENSION PULLMAN EMPLOYEES

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The Pullman company today announced the inauguration of a pension plan for its 33,000 employees in the manufacturing and operating departments. The workers will be retired at the age of seventy, and those having been in the service for twenty years or more, will be pensioned at the rate of one per cent of their last monthly pay for every year of their employment. An employee having been in the service twenty years will thus draw twenty per cent of his average salary for the last year as a pension.

SAY CITY SHOULD PAY SCHOOL NURSE

Report of Red Seal Campaign Incidentally Makes Recommendation to the Council

NET $583.9 FOR NURSE FUND

Sale of Seals in This City Amounted to $548.12, of Which State Association Takes Half

Declaring that the city should provide a salary for the school nurse, and that the funds raised by the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals should be used in distinctively anti-tuberculosis work, the committee which conducted the Red Cross seal campaign here, yesterday completed its report to the permanent committee on tuberculosis.

$583.09 for Fund

According to the financial report, the sum accruing to the school nurse fund from the sale of Christmas seals is $548.12. The total sale of Christmas seals amounted to $548.12, and the donations to the school nurse fund, gathered in connection with the campaign, were $353.81, making a total of $901.93. Fifty per cent of the seal sales went to the Wisconsin anti-tuberculosis association, or $274.06, and the expenses of the campaign were $44.78. The balance for local use is $583.09.

The report of the committee concludes:

For the benefit of the committee of next year we suggest the following plan of campaign based upon the experience of this year.

First—A personal canvass of all firms and individuals likely to subscribe more than $2.00, seals to be delivered Dec. 1st.

Second, all seals not subscribed for to be mailed on Dec. 1st in quantities of 25c, 50c, 1.00 and $2.00, accompanied by a letter requesting the recipient to remit at his earliest convenience. Names of all those not remitting or returning seals, to be given to a collector December 10th.

Mailing List Satisfactory

We have found the mailing list a most satisfactory means of conducting the campaign and we recommend that it be used to the exclusion of such plans as employing school children and nurses.

We believe that it is also more satisfactory to the public in that no person is annoyed by being importuned after having made a contribution.

Your committee desires to register an emphatic protest against a continuance of the present system of raising by voluntary subscription the fund for the school nurse's salary.

The value of the work has been demonstrated. When our present fund becomes exhausted, the city council should make provision for the salary. The matter should be brought to their attention so forcibly that they cannot fail to see that this work is of supreme importance, contributing as it does to the health, happiness and progress of our school children. We believe that it will not be found feasible to continue to raise this fund by subscription, as it is not fair to ask individuals to carry a burden which would be no burden if it were distributed as it should be among all the tax payers. Furthermore, it is our belief that funds retained locally from the Red Cross campaign should be used in distinctively anti-tuberculosis work.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. R. LONGBRAKE, W. S. WOODS, R. H. HERBERT, THURSTON OWENS, N. M. SCOTT.

Committee.

The committee adopted a motion commending the work of its chairman, Geo. R. Longbrake.

TRAILS OLD GAGS TO ANCIENT LAIRS

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Ancient jokes are trailed to their lair by Miss Irene Nye, of Washburn college, Kansas, relative of Bill Nye, in an article, "Humor Repeats Itself," in the current number of the Classical Journal. She finds:

That Plautus loved to joke about woman's slowness in dressing; that Martial centuries ago was "kidding" the bald-headed man, the fat man, and the physician who co-operates with the undertaker, and that Catullus was fond of the mother-in-law joke.

Juvenal, according to Miss Nye, first got over the one about the man who awoke in the middle of the night and asked his wife if she were talking "yet or again."

COUPLE NABBED AS VICE PROBE ENDS

Nineteen Year Old Girl and Man Taken from Alleged Resort by the Local Police

GIRL PRESENTS BIG PROBLEM

Mother Has Served Penitentiary Term and She "Never Had Chance" Accorded Others

Within a few hours after the Wisconsin legislative vice commission had completed its hearing at which prominent social and civic workers told how to protect young girls from temptation, Ethel Smith, aged 19 years, was arrested with Arthur Dragan, aged 24, in a room at the hotel on North Second street, formerly run by Frank Scott.

Mike Abrams, proprietor, was not arrested by Sergeant Wendling and Patrolman Wermuth, explaining that the man and girl had entered the place separately and had been assigned separate rooms. At the time of their arrest, claim the police, the girl was in the room of Dragan.

"Never Had Chance"

Ethel is known to the police as "the girl who never had a chance." Her early youth was not spent in surroundings which served to mould lofty, pure and noble character. Her mother has served a term in the penitentiary, was paroled and re-incarcerated for violation of parole.

"What shall we do with the girl?" queried Police Chief Webber this morning.

"What would any citizen do? What would be for her greatest good? Will she be better off in an institution? Or shall we display mercy and give her another chance?"

Promised to "Be Good"

"I have known that she was yielding to temptation. Recently I had her in my office, talked to her and secured work for her. She went to work sincerely determined, I believe, to live 'right.'"

"You say, 'She didn't, though,' and think maybe she ought to be punished, not only for this specific offense but for weakening and yielding again."

"Did the giving of a job to her really give her a 'chance'? Is that 'living' for a girl, nineteen years old, and fond of pleasure and nice things?" "Shall we send her to an institution? Will she be corrected there? Or will she come out hardened against the world, sure that she is being pointed out as 'the girl who went wrong' and determined to live the life for which she has the name?" "Some think police work is easy? What would YOU do with Ethel?"

STICKS TO LOVER

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 9.—"I knew that Mr. Foster loved me. I was happy with him, but miserable away from him, even in my own home," said Della Bradley, 16 year old Burlington, N. J., girl, who eloped with Joel M. Foster, here today. Foster is said to be a millionaire. He is 40 years old, but the young girl who fled with him declared she would remain loyal despite a white slave charge brought against Foster. Foster and his girl companion were received in the best circles here as Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Foster.

APPROVE "SILENT PHONES"

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9.—The practice of telephone companies permitting persons to have "silent phones," which permit the party owning the phone to call numbers, but has no number in the telephone book and instructs the company never to call the number, was approved by a decision of the railroad commission today. The case arose in Milwaukee, where the Wisconsin Telephone company has 143 "silent number telephones."

HARRY DUNN IS GRANTED PARDON

He Was Convicted in 1900 of Murder of Emil Lieber at Milwaukee in Year 1899

WAS VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Is Son of W. S. Dunn, Passenger Conductor on C. M. & St. P. Railroad, and Formerly Lived Here

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Harry Dunn, La Crosse, was granted a conditional pardon from state's prison by Governor McGovern today, upon a showing by physicians and Dr. J. W. Coon that he is a victim of tuberculosis and that only freedom can prolong his life.

He was convicted in Milwaukee, January 30, 1900, of killing Emil Lieber, a Milwaukee saloonkeeper. Dunn must report quarterly to the board of control and must abstain from all conduct not peaceful and law-abiding.

Applied in 1912

The application for pardon was made in January, 1912, by Morris & Hartwell, attorneys for Dunn, but on account of the amount of business in the executive office, there was no hearing on the application until last month, at which time Governor McGovern stated if Dunn was in as bad condition as claimed by Mr. Hartwell, who argued the application, that he thought it was the proper case for executive clemency.

Dunn was found guilty on Jan. 30, 1900 of murder in the first degree, by a jury in the municipal court for Milwaukee county, in a prosecution charging him, together with Frank Foley of murdering Emil Lieber on the night of Oct. 3, 1898. He was given a life sentence, and has been in confinement, either in jail or in state's prison ever since the November following the death of Lieber.

Circumstantial Evidence

His conviction was principally upon circumstantial evidence, with the exception of the testimony of Mrs. Lieber, who swore that Dunn and Foley entered their saloon for the purpose of robbery and that she threw a beer bottle at them when the pair began shooting and her husband's death was the result.

The identification of Dunn has always been claimed by the defence to have been doubtful, because it was claimed that she had never seen Dunn before and saw him for the first time at Portage, Wis., where he was under arrest, and after being told that the slayer of her husband was in custody.

The case went to the supreme court, but the sentence was sustained. Two applications for pardon were made by Milwaukee attorneys but were refused, and after waiting a couple of years, the present application was made.

Formerly Lived Here

Dunn is the son of W. S. Dunn, a conductor on the C. M. & St. P. railroad, and until a very short time before his arrest, was a resident of La Crosse. He was 20 years old when convicted. Foley was never found.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—Fire early today destroyed the huge plants of the International Distilling company and the United States Industrial Alcohol company with a loss estimated at $1,000,000.

The blaze was spectacular as one alcohol tank after another exploded throwing the blazing spirits high in the air.

Firemen were helpless and concentrated their efforts on keeping the fire from spreading.

Two firemen were seriously injured by an explosion. The two companies which belong to the same stockholders, carried $900,000 insurance. The loss included millions of gallons of wines and syrup.

SAYS HE WAS DEAD AND RESURRECTED

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 9.—A. J. Thorne, business man and Christian Scientist, who testified at a Scientist meeting that he had died suddenly last Saturday and was brought back to life by the prayers of a Christian Science practitioner, was at work in his office today, having completely recovered from what he asserts was a journey into the "plane of death." He declines to talk of his experience other than to say that he was completely unconscious concerning what was going on in the "material plane" in which his body lay.

"The experience is sacredly my own," he said. "Death is a continuation. I do not fear it. But I wanted to live to do what I can to work out my problems here."

HIS RELIGION TO CONTENT WORKERS

Henry Ford Tells His Gospel of the Square Deal to the United Press

SAYS IT'S DISGRACE TO DIE RICH

Like Carnegie He Plans to Get All He Can Out of His Fortune While He Lives

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Declaring that his "only religion was in making the men who are doing the work contented," and endorsing the doctrine of Andrew Carnegie, that it is a disgrace to die rich, Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, who recently announced a $10,000,000 profit sharing plan for the employees of his plant, today freely discussed with the United Press his personal beliefs and habits.

"I think it is a disgrace to die rich," said Ford. "Use money while you have it. I am enjoying my money and I am going to get all out of it that I can while I live."

Son With Him

With Ford here is his son, Ed-sell, 20, and Mrs. Ford. The son is a high school graduate, but instead of entering college he went to his father's factory and is now one of his right hand men.

Ford is moderate in all his habits. He said he had never smoked nor drank in his life. He drank hot water for breakfast today. He is a great admirer of Thomas Edison and John Burroughs, the naturalist. Burroughs called upon him at the hotel today, and after leaving here Sunday, Ford will visit Edison at Ea. Orange, N. J.

Worth About $3,000,000.

Ford denied a report that he had $13,000,000 in different banks. He said he now had only between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 in cash in Detroit, Chicago and New York banks.

Walters in the Belmont who expected Ford to order an expensive breakfast were disappointed today. He ate just two pieces of bacon, one corn muffin and a portion of another, and drank a pot of hot water, no coffee.

15,000 After Jobs

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 9.—Police estimated there were 15,000 men in the crowd that today stormed the Ford plant in Highland park, seeking work, under the $5 minimum wage scale, recently announced.

The good humor that has prevailed among the job seekers on previous days was missing, and minor riots and disorders were numerous.

Police headquarters and reserves of the Highland park police department were thrown about the factory gates, but on several occasions the officers were all but swept down in the rush.

REDLIGHT IS NOT "NECESSARY EVIL"

Mayor Sorensen Tells Vice Commission Conditions Have Improved Since Its Abolition

FAVOR THE 'WOMANLESS SALOON'

Policemen and Mayor Recommend that Rear Doors and Side Entrances Be Eliminated Here

The mayor and two policemen yesterday advocated before the vice commission barring of women from saloons as a possibility of improving morality and favored the abolition of rear and side door saloon entrances.

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen, who re-opened the redlight during a former administration because he thought it to be a "necessary evil," testifying before the legislative vice commission at its closing session yesterday afternoon, declared that the city is better off morally without its tenderloin, that there are grave doubts on the value of police supervised vice and that the evil is absolutely unnecessary.

The announcement of the former exponent of the "open town" was something of a surprise, and Mr. Sorensen, evidently realizing the discussion this announcement would make, explained his change of base. "During my first administration,"

Mayor Discredits Tale

Mayor Sorensen took occasion to say that he believed the story of the "nude parade" to be false and that while it had undoubtedly been repeated to Father Murphy, it was not founded in fact. He deplored the bad advertising that La Crosse secured as a result of the tale. He also said that he objected to saying anything that would cast reflection upon working girls as a whole, maintaining that in the main their morals are high.

Feared Attack on Girls

"I thought it was a mistake to close it, that vice would be scattered about the city. I feared that the abolition of the district would result in attacks upon young girls and, with this in view, I ordered it re-opened. It has been closed since I left office the first time, and so far during my present administration."

"I have made a careful study of the question with particular attention to local conditions and find that they have grow better instead of worse since the resort keepers and inmates were driven out."

Mayor Sorensen recommended that the attorney general's office be equipped with investigators, whose duty it should be to visit cities to

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

The Emotional Drone

By ANNIE HINRICHS
 (Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
 "Look at that couple." There was good-natured derision in Edward Vernon's voice.
 "What is the matter with them?" Phyllis Lane asked.
 The couple was a young man and a young woman. They were sitting on the grass near the road eating thick ham sandwiches—lunch counter ham sandwiches.
 "They are evidently living in a blissful dream," said Vernon. "A man and a woman must be madly in love when they can sit on the damp grass by the roadside, eat cold trash and beam rapturously at each other between bites. He is a clerk in Hilton's bank. She is a stenographer. This is a holiday and they are spending it in the country. They drove out in a decrepit livery rig. Can you imagine how two intelligent persons, and they are intelligent, can be so deeply in love as to enjoy that sort of outing just because they are together?"

There was a wistful look in Phyllis's eyes. "They are very happy," she said. "The girl's face is really tender with joy, and the man has the exalted look of a conquering hero."
 "Why shouldn't they be happy and enjoy their ham sandwiches?" she went on a little savagely. "They have their love for each other. What more is needed?"
 "I should like to be so much in love with a girl that I could consider that sort of excursion a howling joy," he said cynically.
 "And I," said Phyllis earnestly, "expect to love a man so dearly that a ham sandwich with him will be a banquet and a decrepit livery rig will be a chariot."
 Vernon turned suddenly toward her. "What do you mean?" he asked amazedly. "You will marry me and I shall not take you on pastoral excursions."
 "I shall not marry you."
 "Why Phyllis, it has always been understood that we should be married some day."
 "I have never understood anything of the kind. You are not at all the sort of man I wish to marry. You are emotionally lazy. You are good looking, clever and successful. Your family tree is one of the finest in the state. Our families and friends—and perhaps you—have always taken it for granted that we are perfectly suited to each other. We are not. I want a man who does not believe that the material things of life are all that constitute happiness. The man and the girl we passed have very little money. But they are gloriously happy because love is everything to them. They are happier in that ramshackle livery rig than you and I are in this stunning automobile. Their sandwiches have a finer flavor than the expensive luncheon we shall eat at the country club. I like you, Edward, but I shall marry for love, and the man will not be an emotional drone. He will be thoroughly alive to the value of immaterial things."

"Do you mean that red-headed doctor?" Vernon demanded. "Phyllis, have you engaged yourself to him?"
 "He is just the sort of man a romantic girl would lose her head over."
 "Dr. Melford is one of the finest men I have ever known. He will never marry a woman just because he has always known her or because their families approve or because their fortunes are equal or for any other dull, stupid reason. He will marry because he counts love the greatest thing in the world."
 "I knew you had been visiting his poor patients with him and feeding and clothing his paupers. I had no idea you had fallen in love with him."
 "I have not said that I am in love with him. I have said that I shall not marry an emotional drone."
 A few days later when Vernon went to the Lane home for his usual Sunday afternoon call he was told that Miss Lane was not in. He was puzzled. Phyllis was always at home on Sunday afternoons unless she was out with him. Two days later he called again. Miss Lane was not in. Half a block away he met Dr. Melford. He turned to see Dr. Melford entering the Lane home.

 For a week Vernon tried to secure communication with Phyllis. He called and the servant said she was not at home. He phoned. The answer was the same. He sent her flowers, but there was no acknowledgment. He wrote and asked for an explanation. Silence.
 He was going down the steps of the Lane home. Miss Lane was not in, he had been told. The front door opened and Dr. Melford came out.
 "Is Miss Lane ill?" Vernon's voice betokened wrath rather than anxiety.
 Dr. Melford answered deliberately. "Miss Lane's friends have no cause to be uneasy about her health. She has a splendid color."
 Vernon's scowl deepened. Without a word he left the physician.
 That evening Vernon, walking slowly past the Lane home, saw a white-robed figure on the veranda. He hurried toward it.
 "Do not come one step nearer!" Phyllis's voice commanded.
 Vernon stopped ten feet from the veranda. "Phyllis, what does this mean? Why have you refused to see me or to speak with me? I am the loneliest man in the world without you, dear. I love you with all my heart. I did not realize how much I loved you until you banished me. The whole world is dark and dreary, Phyllis, without you."
 "You are not in love? You?" Phyllis's voice was incredulous.

"Of course I'm in love. A man could not be more completely, overwhelmingly in love than I am, and no man could be more miserable. Do you love Melford? Is he the cause of my banishment?"
 "You were banished because—because I have had the measles. I caught them from one of Dr. Melford's patients. Measles are intensely amusing to the people who do not have them, and the whole town would have thought Phyllis Lane's measles an excellent joke. Dr. Melford and the servants were sworn to secrecy, and, of course, Dr. Melford has had to come to see me often. I have never been in love with him. I have been interested in some of his poorest patients and have visited them with him and the trained nurse, to whom he is engaged.
 "Do not come nearer. My face is still very red and I am awfully ugly. Edward, when I get well will you hire a decrepit old livery vehicle and drive me out into the country and eat ham sandwiches?"
 "Dearest, I can think of nothing that would be more glorious. Phyllis, I am not an emotional drone. I am a man thoroughly alive to the fact that love is the greatest thing life holds."
 Phyllis drew a long breath. No doubt every great strategist draws a long breath when he sees the successful result of his careful manipulation of circumstances. "What a dull person you were," she said. "I refused you not because I did not love you—for I did—but because you did not know that you loved me."

TO HONOR JACKSON

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Commemorating the 99th anniversary of General Andrew Jackson's victory at New Orleans, a banquet will be given here tonight at which a project to erect a million dollar Jackson monument in Nashville will be formally launched.

Dreadful.

"Mercy, child!" exclaimed Mrs. Harlem. "I never would have believed my little boy could use such language. Been playing with bad children again, haven't you?" "No'm," replied her little boy. "Teddy Bacon and I have been playing with a parrot his uncle sent him from Chicago."

ROBBED—GRIEF KILLS

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Grief over the robbery of his little cigar and candy store, caused the death of Martin Larsen, 70, his friends said today. When Larsen reached the store yesterday he found everything gone. The entire stock was worth only $250, but it represented his savings of several years.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Beautiful Little Dawn Fairies.

The Fairy Queen Protects Them.

"I WONDER if you know, children, that there are certain lovely little fairies living around us all the time who call themselves the dawn fairies?"
 "No," said Evelyn; "I have never heard of them. Do tell us about them and why they call themselves by such a funny name."
 "Well," continued daddy, "it does seem a funny name when you first hear it, but when I tell you why you will understand.
 "You see, the chief object of a fairy is never to be seen by a human being. These fairies are around us all the time, but we do not know it, as we cannot see them. The only time they play without any worries or fears is in the early morning before day breaks, and so they call themselves the dawn fairies. Their dresses are made of dull gray, which looks like the early morning, and then it is that they frisk about and have the most wonderful time. As soon as the sun rises their dresses change color and are very dazzling—just like the sun, which, you know, is so bright that you cannot possibly look at it. You see, when the sun rises and the day begins all the human beings commence to get up and go about, and as the fairies do not wish to be seen the queen of the fairies has given them all these very, very bright frocks so none of us can see them."
 "I know a way of seeing the dawn fairies," suggested Jack.
 "Oh, what?" asked Evelyn excitedly.
 "Why, just get up early, you silly thing," said Jack, "and watch them playing in their own dawn dresses before they put on the very, very bright dresses the fairy queen has given them."
 "Jack," began daddy, "your idea has already been thought of by the fairy queen, for should any little boy or girl get up before daybreak in order to see the dawn fairies the fairy queen, who is always watching over them, waves her magic wand and the fairies are instantly turned into mist."
 "Once a little boy like you, Jack, had heard of the dawn fairies and was so eager to see them that he got up long before daybreak—in fact, before the fairies themselves were up, for they sleep when it is really dark. This little boy hid in the trunk of a tree. After what seemed a long time to him the lovely gray dawn fairies came out from their sleeping places, and he heard them laugh their low, bell-like laughs. Suddenly one of them realized that some one was around and caught sight of the little boy. 'Oh, dear,' shrieked the fairy; 'there's a huge person near us!' at which all the fairies scattered."
 "So from that day the fairy queen has been careful that no one else should see the dawn fairies."

DON'T FORGET YOUR HAPPY PAST

When confronted by the fact that approximately two mills of the 18 to 25 mills raised for taxes this year goes to the state government,

REMEMBER—

That for years La Follette, by making corporations pay the back taxes which they had evaded, and by recovering war claims that had lain neglected during stalwart control, SAVED YOU FROM PAYING A SINGLE CENT OF STATE TAXES.

That this year you are paying DOUBLE state taxes, because last year the state treasurer remitted the taxes despite the need of them, and you paid NONE.

This means that next year, and the following years, the state tax will be but half what it is this year, because this year you are paying both last year's and this year's state tax. It means all the present advantages of state government will come to you next year and the following years for half the state tax you are paying this year.

CO-OPERATION IS PRACTICAL

If the people who are skeptical about the practical value of co-operation designed to furnish ready and free markets for the producer and to mitigate the consumer's trouble occasioned by the "high cost of living" will study the actual working out of this problem by the Wells-Fargo Express company it is possible that their disillusionment may be followed by advocacy of the scheme.

To say that the company's dual motive for inaugurating co-operation is to popularize their business and divert business from freight cars to express cars, begs the question. We are interested only in the working out of the idea.

It started with a plan of the thousand or more employees of the company in Chicago to ship in by express such food necessities as were needed, and with the freight and cartage charges added, these workers found they were able to save from $3 to $4 per week for each family over the cost of the same products handled by middlemen. In addition, they got the fresh product, a great advantage in view of the fact that the freshest goods in storage are the last to be marketed.

The women's clubs of Chicago took it up. They divided communities into groups of five families, one of each group being selected as agent of the others. The undertaking is working admirably, and the plan is spreading over Chicago like wildfire, to the disgust of the jobbers.

That it will spread to other cities, and over the nation, seems probable, and we mustn't be so set on baiting express companies as to begrudge them the legitimate profits of their enterprise.

PROTEST AGAINST AYLWARD LETTER

The Appleton Post, which has presented the perplexing spectacle of standpat republicanism and progressive democracy doing the "brother act," hands Mr. Aylward a truly artistic dressing down. We quote:

"As to the Aylward letter, it speaks for itself. The flippant treachery with which he ignores the overwhelming indorsement of Tom Fleming for internal revenue collectorship, by democrats of the state, must tear to shreds whatever reputation he had for fair dealing.

"It is a clear case of apostasy to that branch of his party with whom he has not affiliated, but which he is now attempting to placate for his own aggrandizement. * * * In Aylward's domination of his party there is a gorgeous virility—a charm of vagueness. Intoxicated with the divine philter of an unbounded confidence in his own audacity, it can be depended upon that his present political exploitations are but the dawn of his devilishness.

"The gentlemen who favored the Post with the Aylward letter assure us that Aylward has but one ambition and that is the United States senatorship. He also informed us that Senator Randolph had been promised the collectorship but was thrown into the scrap heap to make way for Hemmy, whom Aylward believes to have great influence. * * * And so, in melancholy destination, the war goes on between the high nosed Huertas and the hungry greasers of Wisconsin's democracy.

"May his royal highness from eternity's basement take the hindmost and foremost and both flanks."

Be not despondent, dear Post. Stripped of public confidence, "Joe and I" will be two very plain and uninfluential citizens. "The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away." The honest democrats of Wisconsin will raise up other leaders.

UNLOAD AND GET READY

The merchant who reads can no longer doubt that 1914 gives convincing promise of activity along all lines much in excess of the trade of 1913. From every source of sound information come daily assurances of business acceleration, and advances show constantly growing confidence on the part of those in a position to speak with authority.

La Crosse merchants should proceed vigorously to put themselves in shape to take advantage of the possibilities of a season of revived activity. This first step should be to "clean up." They should not carry over old stock of which value is affected by changes in styles, excepting as avoidance is impossible. A lively campaign to clean the shelves should succeed, for there was a good crop last year, and our country correspondents assure us that people have means with which to buy. The thrifty instincts of the community will not permit citizens to overlook real bargains, and the public may as well be given a chance to profit now by prices which, if not offered at present, will be forced upon the merchants through depreciation at a later date.

We believe that an intelligent and aggressive campaign at this time will put our mercantile public in shape to secure its full share of the promised prosperity of 1914, and that they will see and not neglect the opportunity may be presumed from the business shrewdness that has characterized their management in the past.

It is indeed pleasant to feel that, following uncertainty at home and unsatisfactory foreign conditions, the enterprise and "punch" of the American people has reasserted itself so positively as to create a wave of good times, the impulse of which is already felt here, and the crest of which will reach La Crosse in company with the "Spring Opening."

MIGHT SIMPLY "TRY ANYTHING ONCE"

One thousand Chicago churches are promoting a "Go to Church Sunday" with the hope that on that day every man in Chicago may be induced to attend church. It is a fine idea, and of all the thousands of the unaccustomed who go, it will be strange indeed if some are not reached by an appeal the answer of which must be "the return of the prodigal." However, unless the minute men of Christianity follow this up with personal work, much of the possible good of the effort will be lost.

According to an agricultural authority, hens need amusement. They ought to be able to get all they want contemplating the high price of eggs.

Should Have Made Inquiries

In a small country church, in England, a little child was brought forward for baptism. The young minister, taking the little one in his arms, spoke as follows:

"Beloved hearers, no one can foretell the future of this child. He may grow up to be a great astronomer, like Sir Isaac Newton, or a great labor leader like John Burns; and it is possible he might become the prime minister of England."

Turning to the mother, he inquired:

"What is the name of the child?"

"Mary Ann," was the reply.

Too Much for Her

The good widow was about to sell her household furniture, her rugs, plated ware and what not. As she was going over these articles her eyes filled with tears; a host of memories rose to her mind and, laying aside a half dozen knives, she said:

"Oh, dear! I can't let these go! They've been in poor George's mouth too often!"

Just Like a Woman

The clerk was at a loss and a floor-walker minced up and took a part in the conversation.

"Now, how about my money back?" demanded the red faced lady.

"We return money when cases so justify. What is it—ribbons, shoes?"

"Naw. It's a book."

"Has the book been read?"

"Of course."

"Um. We can't return money on books, you know."

The red faced lady grew purple.

"You aim to have only satisfied customers. That's the way you advertise. Ain't it now?"

"Yes, madam."

"Then why can't you take this novel back and return my money?"

"Is the book damaged in any way?"

"Print imperfect, or anything like that?"

"Can't say it is."

"Then why are you not satisfied with the novel?"

"Why, I don't like the way it ends."—Judge.

Her Reedy

There are drawbacks even to being the wife of a wealthy man, as Mrs. Rich found out. Although they have only been married a few weeks, she hardly ever has a quiet hour with her husband. It's business from morn till night, and in the evening he only begs for peace and rest. So the other day she came down to dinner in a sombre black frock.

"Why on earth, dear," said Mr. Rich, eyeing her gown with distaste, "are you wearing that frock? Why, it's half mourning."

"Of course it's half mourning," replied the lady, with much meaning. "Don't you always say when you come home from the office that you are half dead?"

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1912, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by parcel post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

About Kissing

The subject of "kissing before engagements for marriage" came up at a whist club of half a dozen married couples. It turned out that not one of the women had been kissed until her troth had been plighted. One of the men had a poor memory.

"We used to kiss sometimes, didn't we?" he said to his wife.

"No, sir," she said, with deep indignation: "you tried to, and you fought for the privilege, but you never succeeded."

"Is that so?" her husband remarked.

"I've kissed so many—"

"What's that? What did you say?" the wife asked.

There was a pause. Intense but suppressed excitement was visible on the faces of the other married men.

"I say," said the husband, "I have kissed you so many times that I can't remember when I began."

Then the other married men breathed more freely.

Famous Men Who Wore Beards.

History regards that among the noted men who have favored the wearing of beards of mustaches or both have been Elijah the prophet, Esau, Pythagoras, Peter the Great, King Henry VIII, Shakespeare, Chaucer, Charles Dickens, Prince Bismarck, Gladstone, Tennyson, Walt Whitman, Victor Hugo, Abraham Lincoln, Gen. Robert E. Lee, Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, Presidents Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Cleveland, Harrison and Taft; the late Mikado of Japan and King Edward VII and King George V. of England.

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy

If you should meet anyone varnishing a face with a greasy ointment, your best advice would be to quit such things and attend to the blood.

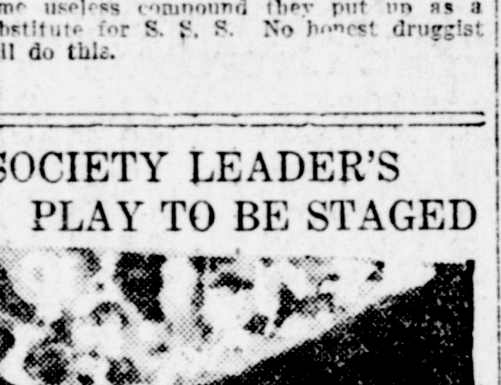

To successfully fight any blood trouble, some eruptive skin disease—such as eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria or scrofula—get your blood under the influence of S. S. S. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural remedies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood, for the diseased venous blood is marvellous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy to-day, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to the Swift Specific Co., 216 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into some useless compound that puts on as a substitute for S. S. S. No honest druggist will do this.

SOCIETY LEADER'S PLAY TO BE STAGED

Mrs. Lars Anderson, society leader of Brookline and Washington and wife of the former United States ambassador to Japan, has written a play which will be produced in a Boston theater on January 12. It is called "Every Boy" and is designed to portray the different senses, passions and emotions that actuate the average boy's life. A Boston newspaper has furnished the words and music for the musical parts of the piece.

The Andersons are among the wealthiest and most exclusive society people in America.

After Him Crept Mr. Magee

After him crept Mr. Magee. He followed the professor to the east balcony, and saw him pause at the open window of number seven. There the old man looked slyly about, as though in doubt. He peered into the room, and one foot was across the sill when Mr. Magee came up and touched him on the arm.

Professor Bolton leaped in evident fright out upon the balcony.

"It's—it's a wonderful night," he said. "I was out for a little walk on the balcony, enjoying it. Seeing your window, I was afraid—"

"The night you speak so highly of," replied Mr. Magee, "is at your left. You have lost your way. Good night, Professor."

He stepped inside and closed the window. Then he pulled down the curtains in both rooms of his suite, and spent some time exploring. Finally he paused before the fire place, with the aid of a knife unlocked a brick. Under this he placed the package of money, removing the traces of his act as best he could.

"Now, he said, standing up, 'I'm a regular hermit with a buried treasure, as per all hermit specifications. Tomorrow I'm going to hand my treasure to somebody—it's too much for a man who came up here to escape the excitement and melodrama of the world.'"

He looked at his watch. It was past three o'clock. Entering the inner room, for the second time that night he sought to sleep. "They can't play without me—I've got the ball," he repeated with a smile. And, safe in this thought, he closed his eyes, and slumbered.

CHAPTER X
The Cold Gray Dawn

The gayest knight must have a morning after. Mr. Magee awakened to his to find suite seven wrapped again in its favorite polar atmosphere. Filling the door leading to the outer room, he beheld the cause of his awakening—the mayor with the cold steel eye of a Disraeli in action, but when he spoke he opened the jaws of a cocktail mixer.

"Well, young fellow," he remarked, "it seems to me it was time you got up and faced the responsibilities of the day. First of which, I may mention, is a little talk with me."

He stepped into the room, and through the doorway he vacated Mr. Magee came slinking. The unluckily face of the foe of suspicion was badly bruised, and he looked upon the world with no cheerful eye. Pushing aside one of the frail bedroom chairs as untrustworthy, the mayor sat down on the edge of Mr. Magee's bed. It creaked in protest.

"You used us pretty rough last night in the snow," Cargan went on. "What's why I ain't disposed to go in for kid gloves and diplomacy this morning. It's my experience that when you're dealing with a man who's got the good old Irish name of Magee, it's best to hit first and debate afterward."

"I—I used you roughly, Mr. Cargan," said Magee.

"No debate, mind you," protested the mayor. "Lou and me are making this morning call to inquire after a little package that went astray some where last night. There's two courses open to you—hand over the package or let us take it. I'll give you a tip—the first is the best. If we have to take it, we might get real rough in our actions."

Mr. Magee slipped closer to the bed, an ugly look on his face. The mayor glared fixedly into Magee's eyes. The knight who fought for fair ladies in the snow lay on his pillow and considered briefly.

"Let what I go after," remarked Cargan emphatically.

"Yes," spured Magee, "but the real point is keeping what you get after you've gone after it. You didn't make much of an impression on me last night in that line, Mr. Cargan."

"I never cared much for humor," replied the mayor, "especially at this early hour of the morning."

PROTEST BREAKS LEG

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 9. — Natway Nazrau's neighbors, who live in the flat beneath him, had a celebration last night. They tangoed and "hesi-tated," sang songs and enjoyed themselves generally. Natway figured that ten o'clock was quitting time, but at that hour the fun had just commenced. To show his disapproval of the affair Natway jumped and stamped on the floor with such violence that he broke his leg.

Seven Keys To Baldpate

The New Sensational Comedy
By Earl Derr Biggers
Copyright The Robb-Merrill Company

For answer, the intruder sprang through the door and disappeared in the darkness of the outer room. Mr. Magee followed. One of his windows slammed back and forth in the wind. Slipping on a dressing-gown and lighting a candle, he made an investigation. The glass above the lock had been broken. Outside, in the snow on the balcony, were recent footprints.

Sleepily Mr. Magee procured the precious package and put it in the pocket of his gown. Then drawing on his shoes, he added a greatcoat to his equipment, took a candle, and went out on to the balcony.

The storm had increased; the snow flurried and blustered; the wind, howls of Baldpate Inn rattled wildly all about. It was difficult to keep the candle burning in that wind. Mr. Magee followed the footprints along the east side of the inn to the corner, then along the more sheltered rear, and finally to the west side. On the west was a rather unluckily annex to the main building, which increasing patronage had made necessary. It was connected with the inn by a covered passageway from the second floor balcony. At the entrance to this passageway the footprints stopped.

Entering the dark passageway, Mr. Magee made his way to the door of the annex. He tried it. It was locked. But as he turned away, he heard voices on the other side.

Mr. Magee had barely enough time to extinguish his candle and slip into the shadows of the corner. The door of the annex opened. A man stepped out into the passageway. He stood there. The light from a candle held by some one in the doorway whom Mr. Magee could not see fell full upon his face—the bespectacled wise face of Professor Thaddeus Bolton.

"Better luck next time," said the professor.

"Keep an eye on him," said the voice from inside. "If he tries to leave the inn there'll be a big row. We must be in on it—and win."

"I imagine," said Professor Bolton, smiling his academic smile, "that the inmates of Baldpate will make tomorrow a rather interesting day for him."

"It will be an interesting day for every one," answered the voice.

"If I should manage to secure the package, by any chance," the professor went on, "I shall undoubtedly need your help in getting away with it. Let us arrange a signal. Should a window of my room be open at any time tomorrow, you will know the money is in my hands."

"Very good," replied the other. "Good night—and good luck."

"The same to you," answered Professor Bolton. The door was closed, and the old man moved off down the passageway.

After him crept Mr. Magee. He followed the professor to the east balcony, and saw him pause at the open window of number seven. There the old man looked slyly about, as though in doubt. He peered into the room, and one foot was across the sill when Mr. Magee came up and touched him on the arm.

Professor Bolton leaped in evident fright out upon the balcony.

"It's—it's a wonderful night," he said. "I was out for a little walk on the balcony, enjoying it. Seeing your window, I was afraid—"

"The night you speak so highly of," replied Mr. Magee, "is at your left. You have lost your way. Good night, Professor."

He stepped inside and closed the window. Then he pulled down the curtains in both rooms of his suite, and spent some time exploring. Finally he paused before the fire place, with the aid of a knife unlocked a brick. Under this he placed the package of money, removing the traces of his act as best he could.

He looked at his watch. It was past three o'clock. Entering the inner room, for the second time that night he sought to sleep. "They can't play without me—I've got the ball," he repeated with a smile. And, safe in this thought, he closed his eyes, and slumbered.

CHAPTER X
The Cold Gray Dawn

The gayest knight must have a morning after. Mr. Magee awakened to his to find suite seven wrapped again in its favorite polar atmosphere. Filling the door leading to the outer room, he beheld the cause of his awakening—the mayor with the cold steel eye of a Disraeli in action, but when he spoke he opened the jaws of a cocktail mixer.

"Well, young fellow," he remarked, "it seems to me it was time you got up and faced the responsibilities of the day. First of which, I may mention, is a little talk with me."

He stepped into the room, and through the doorway he vacated Mr. Magee came slinking. The unluckily face of the foe of suspicion was badly bruised, and he looked upon the world with no cheerful eye. Pushing aside one of the frail bedroom chairs as untrustworthy, the mayor sat down on the edge of Mr. Magee's bed. It creaked in protest.

"You used us pretty rough last night in the snow," Cargan went on. "What's why I ain't disposed to go in for kid gloves and diplomacy this morning. It's my experience that when you're dealing with a man who's got the good old Irish name of Magee, it's best to hit first and debate afterward."

"I—I used you roughly, Mr. Cargan," said Magee.

"No debate, mind you," protested the mayor. "Lou and me are making this morning call to inquire after a little package that went astray some where last night. There's two courses open to you—hand over the package or let us take it. I'll give you a tip—the first is the best. If we have to take it, we might get real rough in our actions."

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

Advices folks to overcome Kidney and Bladder trouble while it is only trouble

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. Agent, Chas. A. Beyerschlager, druggist, 503 Main street.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.
It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

NORTH SIDE FANS TO WATCH SAMPSON

Sport Fans of Upper Section Believe Young Fireman Is Coming in the Ring

North side sport gossip at the present time is centering around George Melde, "Young Sampson," who scored a clean knockout against Lucynski in one of the preliminaries of the boxing bouts held here on New Year's.

According to talk on the north side, there are in the neighborhood of three hundred fans clamoring to see Melde fight again as they consider his performance a proof that he is a comer, although it was his first exhibition.

Melde is endeavoring to negotiate with the La Crosse Boxing club, in an effort to get a bout on the next card, which will probably be held here January 24.

As the local support will be strong with Melde in the ring again, it is probable that in the near future he will be given another chance.

Melde is being diligently trained by a former lightweight known in the east as "Akron Red," who says that he can see in the Milwaukee fireman a real scrapper. Melde is still employed on the railroad, but keeping up his training besides.

SPOTLIGHTS

FISKE O'HARA

Fiske O'Hara in a new Pitou play, "In Old Dublin," will be the attraction at the La Crosse theatre Tuesday, January 13. The popular young star has in the new play a vehicle for his talents that is better than anything in which he has yet appeared, and it is certain that he has never been so successful in anything that he has hitherto presented.

The central figure of "In Old Dublin" is Neil Powers, a young naval architect. He has for a patron one of Dublin's wealthiest bankers, Martin Ferguson, who is ambitious to win the great yachting trophy, the queen's cup, which is shortly to be sailed for on Dublin bay. Ferguson gives young Powers carte blanche to build a yacht and Neil enters upon the work of his life, for to build a boat that can outlast the crack English vessels will bring him fame and fortune. Some of the Dublin castle set, fearing that the Irish vessel may be a dangerous competitor, determine to prevent it from being entered in the race. The banker's wife, a social climber, is informed by two of her castle friends, Sir John Davies and Captain Wharton, that it will be useless to expect any recognition from the lord lieutenant or his lady.

If Mr. Ferguson persists in wishing to enter an Irish built yacht against the English boats. Thoroughly alarmed, Mrs. Ferguson seeks her husband and demands that he desist from his purpose. Reluctantly, the banker assents and the crushing news is imparted to Neil. Shortly before this event there arrives in Dublin one John Farley, an uncle of Neil, and a wealthy ship owner of New York, and his ward, Rose Stratton. Farley becomes much interested in Neil and between the latter and Rose there springs up an immediate attachment. Farley learns of Neil's predicament, immediately buys the boat and furnishes Neil with the necessary funds for its completion. The race is sailed and the Irish boat wins, Neil not only securing the cup but the hand of pretty Rose Stratton.

Mr. O'Hara introduces a number of charming melodies in the performance which display his fine tenor voice to advantage and Manager Pitou has surrounded his star with an excellent supporting company in which are such clever players as Ethel von Waldron, Gertrude Maitland, Marie Quinn, Rose Watson, Lou Ripley, Emma Naylor, Elizabeth Page, Eugene Frazier, J. P. Sullivan, Albert West, Byron Russell, Jefferson Hall and William Lowman. The scenic effects and costumes are more than ordinary ornate and appropriate.

W. B. U. HOLDS

JANUARY OPENING

The mid-winter term of the Wisconsin Business university began on Tuesday with one of the largest new classes in years, students enrolling not only from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, but also from North and South Dakota, Montana, Indiana, Illinois and Saskatchewan, Canada.

Mr. Toland is planning on establishing several branch schools in his territory unless arrangements can be made to secure larger quarters here.

Mr. Toland said, "Altogether, this has been our most satisfactory year. We have an excellent attendance and the nicest class of young people we have ever had and our organization is the best it has ever been."

PAYS $594,532.09

IN COMPENSATION

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9.—In the two years since the workmen's compensation law went into effect employers of the state have paid as indemnity to injured workmen and their dependants the sum of $395,354.75. This announcement was made today by the state industrial commission, which has just completed the compilation of the statistics. The amount does not include the amount paid under the medical relief provision of the law, which is estimated would equal 50 per cent of the amount paid as indemnity. On this basis employers of the state paid to workmen under the workmen's compensation act the sum of $594,532.09.

DEPOSIT $4,893.49

IN PENNY SAVINGS

Children of City Make Good

Showing in the Past

Year with Little

Accounts

During the year 1913 the boys and girls of La Crosse deposited in the penny savings $4,893.49, according to the report of Mrs. R. B. Lowry, secretary of the Penny Savings association. This brings the total deposit from September, 1909, to December 31, 1913, up to $20,498.94, and the number of depositors up to 2,818.

January 1, 1914, there were 1,461 open accounts and $1,004.94 drawing interest.

While the number of closed accounts seems large and the amount of the withdrawals is heavy, those who have made a close study of the penny savings movement say:

"The number of children in school is usually about one-sixth of the total population" and "experience has shown that from one-fourth to one-third open accounts."

"In September we had enrolled in our public and parochial schools 5,919 children, many more than one-sixth of our estimated population, and the number of our open accounts at present is almost exactly one-fourth of the number of children enrolled. Hence it would seem that La Crosse is doing an average amount of business in the penny savings work."

"During the month of December, 1913, the deposit amounted to but $209.97, while the withdrawals came up to $358.64, making a deficit of $148.67, a most unusual occurrence. These figures go to show that Christmas and taxes pull hard on the purses of even the children and young people."

"Many parents who have borrowed money from the children for taxes will repay it by the end of the month and many of the closed accounts will again be opened."

"We urge everyone to help herald the slogan for 1914, 'Five hundred dollars a month for the penny savings department.'"

DISCUSSES SILOS

AT MADISON MEET

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Speaking on silo service in Wisconsin, Frank M. White of the University of Wisconsin told the Wisconsin Experiment association at its annual meeting today that notwithstanding the rapid spread of silo construction, not more than one-fourth of the 55,000 farms in this state have them. Eight years ago there were approximately 750 silos in Wisconsin. He said it is not known how many there are at present but their increase has been vast.

Essentials in silo construction, he said, are that the silo must be airtight, must be perpendicular from top to bottom, must be free from corners and projections, should have a continuous door, must be rigid and able to withstand storms, and should be constructed of material sufficient in non-conducting to prevent excessive freezing. Mr. White advocated the use of silo forms offered by the university to members of the experiment association.

SOCIALISTS ASK

A POLICE WOMAN

In Resolution They Act on
Two Recommendations
Brought Out by Vice Investigation

Declaring that Mayor Sorensen and Chief of Police Webber have gone on record favoring the proposition, the local socialist organization last night passed a resolution demanding that a policewoman be appointed to the city. The resolution also asks that personal purity instruction be made part of the school curriculum.

The Resolution

The resolution follows: "Whereas: Mayor Sorensen and Chief Webber, both have given a timely recommendation that a police woman be appointed, whose duty it shall be to guard the young girls upon the streets and give them guidance in cases where parents fail to properly safeguard them, and

"Whereas: A policewoman could be a great aid in extending the home spirit and high ideals in police circles,

"Therefore be it resolved, That we, the members of Local No. 1, of the social-democratic party of LaCrosse request immediate action to the end that a police woman be employed and that our board of education extend the instructions in personal purity to the pupils."

The socialist local also passed a resolution demanding a federal probe of conditions in the copper strike country of Michigan, and demanding that the government take over the copper mines and run the malum union lines. The resolution follows:

Urge Federal Ownership

"To the Honorable, the President and Congress of the United States of America.

"Whereas, Thousand of miners in the copper regions of Michigan, as well as in other parts of the United States, have been for months engaged in a terrific industrial warfare with the mine owners, and

"Whereas, In the struggle the workers have encountered atrocity and outrage, have seen their members murdered, their property destroyed, their homes ravaged, their children killed; editors and publishers of their papers arrested, thrown into jail and refused release on bail; their leaders shot, violently assaulted, dragged through the streets of the city, and driven out of the state; and

"Whereas, In all the copper region, all semblance of right and justice is suspended and a reign of violence and terrorism prevails, while labor and industry are paralyzed, and

"Whereas, These events demonstrate conclusively the utter incapacity of the present mine owners to operate the mines of these regions, either in justice to labor or in safety to the communities, or in harmony with the welfare of the people of this nation.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the undersigned hereby demand the congress of the United States to take steps as follows:

"First, that a thorough congressional investigation of the whole strike situation be made immediately, and the findings be published at the earliest possible moment.

"Second, That the government take immediate action to acquire posses-

TO DARKEN HAIR

APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back
Its Natural Color, Gloss
and Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Use of the copper mines, and operate them under union conditions.

CONCENTRATE IN REACH OF MEXICO

Almost Entire Naval and Marine Strength of U. S. to Be Gathered on the Coast

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Within two weeks' time almost the entire naval and marine strength of the United States will be concentrated within striking distance of Mexico. Five of the biggest dreadnaughts of the navy will sail tomorrow southward to Culebra, Porto Rico. For a period of six weeks they will cruise about Porto Rico and Cuba, co-operating in maneuvers with a force of 2,000 marines—all available for such duty on the Atlantic shore.

The battleship Minnesota, now on its way to Mexico to relieve the Michigan, has been ordered by wireless to proceed to the isthmus of Panama and taken on board the whole force of four hundred marines stationed there. These will be rushed to Vera Cruz for distribution among the seven battleships there.

GEORGE STADICK DIES OF OLD AGE

George Stadick died this morning at his home, 221 North Fifth street. He was 84 years old. Death came after an illness of some weeks caused by old age, complicated by cerebral hemorrhages.

Mr. Stadick was born in Austria. In 1857 he came to this country, when he located in La Crosse, taking up the tailoring business. For many years he had one of the best establishments here. His wife died but a few months ago.

One daughter, Mrs. John Giefer, and a son, Joseph Stadick, survive. Mr. Stadick was a member of the St. Joseph's society.

The funeral services will be held at 8:30 Monday morning from the residence, and at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's cathedral. Rev. Father G. Sluyter will officiate. Interment will take place at the Catholic cemetery.

Appearance of a Room.

There is something very attractive about a room that does not always present the same appearance. Pictures should be changed when they are not too valuable. Curtains are also valuable in altering the appearance of a room. New cushions, table covers and other ornaments that are inexpensive may also be employed to bring about a change. A bouquet of flowers or a plant, each in its season, gives a pleasing change to a room.

No Arbitrary Weight.

In Great Britain the ton is 20 hundred weight of 112 pounds, that is 2240 pounds avoirdupois. In the United States and Canada the common ton is 2000 pounds, the hundred weight being reckoned at 100 pounds. Stone and rock, like coal, are often calculated in "long ton" terms (2240 pounds).

VILLA COMES UP WITH HIS TROOPS

Takes Command of Rebel Army Investing Ojinaga and Prophesies Its Fall

PESIDIO, Texas, Jan. 9.—Escorted by 2,500 troops under General MacLovich Herrera, General Pancho Villa, during the night, reached a point south of Ojinaga and effected a junction with the rebel army under General Ortega. He brought many wagon trains of provisions and ammunition, and half a dozen big guns.

Villa immediately took personal command of the besiegers and indicated that he would order the attack on Ojinaga resumed before night. With his own and Herrera's troops and those under Ortega, Villa will have 9,000 soldiers. This should be sufficient to overwhelm the federal garrison.

The presence of Villa has inspired the rebel army with renewed confidence and some of the high officers predicted that they would dine in Ojinaga Saturday night.

Despite the overwhelmingly superior force of the enemy, the 4,000 federal defenders of Ojinaga are far from discouraged. Their victory in the recent eight days' battle has given them new courage, and General Pascual Orozco today declared that during the five day respite his men had put their defenses in better condition than ever.

SAILORS IN ACCIDENT

ONE IS KNOWN TO BE DROWNED AND THREE OTHERS ARE MISSING FROM BATTLESHIP WYOMING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—One man was drowned and three others are missing from the capsizing of a launch from the battleship Wyoming in Hampton Roads today, according to wireless dispatches to the navy department this afternoon. One body was recovered, that of Ole Cornelius Olson, boatswain's mate, first-class. Admiral Badger's dispatch says:

"Boat that was capsized was taking wheelbarrows from Wyoming to Proteus. There was fresh breeze and a short choppy sea."

AMUSEMENT FOR TROOPS

LINDSAY, Neb., Jan. 9.—A mob which attacked the jail here today took Jim Potnisil, arrested for wife beating, away from the marshal and whopped him. The prisoner, striped by muscular application of two heavy whips, was then returned to the authorities to be prosecuted.

BRINDLEY'S FINES LESS THAN IN 1912

If the amount of fines collected is an indication, crime in La Crosse has decreased in 1913. During the year just ended county court fines aggregated $804.05 against $1,225.98, the total collected during 1912. Of the sum collected the county retains but two per cent. The circuit court fees in 1913 were two dollars more than in 1912, and amounted to $155.

CENSUS RETURNS SHOW ORLEANS AND ALBANY HAVENS OF LIFE-WEARY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—If you're tired of life, go to New Orleans, La., or Albany, N. Y. Census statistics for 1911 show that the chance of death in these two municipalities is greater than in any other cities of more than 100,000 population. Both had a rate of 20.4 per 1,000. If life looks good, Seattle, Wash., is a good bet. It had the lowest death rate—8.8 per 1,000.

New Hampshire led the state group of twenty-three states registered with a 17.1 rate as against Washington's minimum of 8.9. Fall River and Lowell, Mass., cotton mill cities, showed the highest death rates of children under one year of age—more than 200 per thousand population.

The suicide route was the most popular in San Francisco; the violent death rate was highest in Memphis, with Scranton, Birmingham, Albany and Boston following in order.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 9.—That three persons were instantly killed and a score injured, some probably fatally, in a wreck on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, was reported here today.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE DRIVEN FROM CITY

Mrs. Margaret Apple and Dave Benson were today ordered to leave the city by the police. They were found drunk on the streets, say the police, and refused advice of an officer. They agreed to leave, say the police.

FACTORY GIRL ON CONDITIONS

Second Letter from Factory Worker Takes Probers and Witnesses to Task for Attitude

In a second letter received by The Tribune, signed "Factory Girl," there is much intelligent discussion of the factory girl's problem. The writer assumes a rather bitter attitude toward the commission because she feels that too sweeping language was used, and that the talk has tended to lend the impression that a majority of factory girls are bad. However, the writer complains of factory conditions which the committee aims to improve. The letter follows:

Her Letter

"La Crosse, Jan. 7, 1914.

"Editor La Crosse Tribune—
"Dear Sir: An article which appeared in Wednesday evening's issue and which came to my notice about conditions being bad in factories, I wish to express my opinion on this matter as to some remarks made by several of the speakers, young ladies whom the speaker stated were compelled to parade nude before the eyes of their 'boss.' Now any individual with common sense would know such a story as this to be positively untrue and perfectly foolish for one to harbor such a thought as this.

Has Had Experience

"As I have had considerable experience working in a number of different factories myself, I consider myself more capable of explaining factory conditions than some of these would-be speakers, who think they know everything better than anybody else and who are ever ready to make public their talk on the factory girl as degrading as they possibly can.

"They forget that there are just as many, and probably more, immoral and bad girls among the educated and those which are being educated. So it is not necessarily the 'self educated girl who can hold forth against the wiles of immorality.' In the many years of my factory experience, I have found more good and decent ones. 'Tis true there may be a few which are bad, but people were not all created good—some were always bad and some can not be compelled to be good no matter how often they may be punished for their folly. And another false statement was about the girl who enters the factory to work neglects religion. Now I have met with many good Christian girls whom I worked with in factories. It isn't always factory girls who neglect their religion. You will find people in all walks of life who give up Christianity. What would factories do without factory girls. They must have the girls to work for them.

Makes Matters Worse

"By speaking in such a degrading manner about factory girls only tends to make matters worse. Some girls may think they might as well be bad seeing others have a bad opinion of the factory girl anyway. But I shall always defend the factory girl, for she is in need of defense.

"Respectfully,

"A FACTORY GIRL."

WILSON WILL NAME TAFT CHIEF JUDGE?

Rumored that President Will Give Place to Predecessor if White Retires

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 9.—That President Wilson contemplates the appointment of former President William H. Taft, as chief justice of the United States in case of the retirement of Chief Justice Edward D. White was reported here today. Taft refused to discuss the rumors. The report was said to have been brought north by a man who recently was at Pass Christian, Miss., where President Wilson is on vacation.

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., Jan. 9. President Wilson fraternized with his friends, the school children, again today. He journeyed on the shell road eastward toward Biloxi, so that the youngsters could see what a president looks like. They lined the road and waved banners and flags. The president sat uncovered through the review and told Representative Harrison he was prouder of the children's homage than of any other honor.

The executive put in a regular work day program today, except for a golf game and an automobile ride. It is understood that he has nearly completed the outline of his trust

GLASSY PROGRAM TO END BIG WEEK

Bill of Laughs from Start to Finish, and Famous Aladdin Picture at at Majestic

The second anniversary week show opening at the Majestic last night is a vaudeville bill full of humor. Each act is a good solid laugh from start to finish.

"The Four Whirlwind Willets," fancy roller skaters, open the bill. Performing a perfect roller skate waltz for their first number, they take with the house. Their costumes are of the prettiest that have been seen for a long time with a similar act. Their act introduces new feats throughout.

For a juggling act sprinkled with rare humor, two youngsters, billing themselves "The boys with old straw hats," had the right to claim the Majestic championship title in their work, judging from the applause of the first house. They juggled cleverly, with never a break, all the while exchanging dry quips. They feature the tossing of old straw hats.

Joe Birnes, a poetic story teller of merit, really entertains. He is a good singer. His act consists of a single story told in poetry that is not tiresome. Through the piece Birnes sings several humorous selections of his own.

Mullen and Herbert are eccentric comedy entertainers. They take the house by storm with a "dish water" skit, in which they cut up antics.

"Probably the most interesting and artistic moving pictures that has ever been shown at the Majestic," could be said with truth about "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," the three reel feature which is shown in addition to the vaudeville. Although not a colored picture, one can easily imagine that he is in the orient. The

SURE INDICATIONS OF LUNG TROUBLE

Among the indications of threatened Lung Trouble are a continued cough, fever and night sweats. A change of climate often helps, but it seems that something more is needed to stop the cough and sweats and arrest the progress of disease. Eckman's Alternative, after many years of use, is known to be most beneficial in bringing about relief, in many cases complete recoveries. Investigate this case:— Shell City, Mo.

"Gentlemen: I had a terrible cough, night sweats and pleurisy in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alternative. I paid no attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had been told me about your medicine. I began taking it, with no faith whatever, but before I had taken three bottles, I could eat anything. Fever and night-sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was." (Affidavit) W. F. BOMAR. (Above abbreviated; more on request.)

Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by Chas. Beyschlag, Geo. E. Mariner and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

HONOR U. S. SPORTSWOMAN

PARIS, Jan. 9.—It was remarked in the American colony today that Mrs. Fanny Bullock Workman, the American explorer, was perhaps the first woman honored by the French Academy of Sports. The academy awarded medals to Mrs. Workman, Georges Carpentier, the pugilist; Brindejonc Des Moulinais, who flew from Paris to St. Petersburg, and Alphonse Pegoud, first loop the loop aviator.

ENLARGE DOMESTIC SCIENCE COURSE

The high school domestic science course, which has hitherto taken up only five periods a week, has been lengthened to ten periods or two every day. This change was necessitated by the university inspectors who declared that unless this was done the high school could receive no help from the state in this branch. On account of this change the course has been made elective.

PRESIDENT ONCE M'GREGOR AGENT

Retired Head of New York Central Lines Once a Night Operator at Iowa Town

M'GREGOR, Iowa, Jan. 9.—In the possession of Mr. C. F. Spaulding of McGregor is an agent's time book of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company for the years 1870 to 1882, containing a record of the agents who served at North McGregor for those years. On the second page of the book for the months of April, May and June, 1871, appears the name of W. C. Brown, night operator at North McGregor, salary $55 a month. This is the same W. C. Brown, who is coming back to Lime Springs, Iowa, to live and go in for farming after voluntarily surrendering the presidency of the New York Central railway.

In June, 1871, Mr. Brown was succeeded at North McGregor by Mr. Frank Spaulding and a few months later when Mr. C. F. Spaulding followed his brother as operator, Mr. Brown was at the other end of the line as night operator at Minneapolis.

Just previous to Mr. Brown's appointment at North McGregor Mr. Spaulding remembers him as operator at the little station of Benlah, a few miles west of McGregor. In the many accounts of Mr. Brown's rise in railroad circles this McGregor-Benlah episode of his young days has not appeared.

BUSINESSMEN HOLD FARMERS' INSTITUTE

M'GREGOR, Iowa, Jan. 9.—At a meeting of the McGregor Business Men's Association Monday night it was decided to hold a Farmers' Institute again this winter. The first institute for McGregor was given last winter. It was unusually successful, drawing large crowds. Seven hundred entries were made by the farmers for the premiums offered by the business men. In the management of the institute this year the farmers will cooperate with the business men. The following farmers have been chosen as a committee to work with the business men: J. H. Allert, A. Erbe, H. Brownson, J. N. Robbins. A meeting of the farmers has been called for Saturday afternoon.

The Providence, Rhode Island Tribune of December 28 contains a picture of a McGregor girl, Miss Katharine Heck, and a half page account of her work as instructor in Sloyd in the Tyler school, a Catholic institution at Providence. The school is a pioneer in Sloyd work, the form of manual training which originated in the Larsson normal school, Boston, the institution Miss Heck graduated from twelve years ago. She has been teaching in the Tyler school since completing her course. Miss Heck is a daughter of Phillip Heck, one of the oldest residents of McGregor.

F. C. Kinsley, a member of the Iowa Animal Health commission, left Tuesday night for Des Moines to attend the annual meeting of the commission.

Dr. William Finley of Lawnsdale, Minn., has been a guest of the T. L. Donovan family for a few days. Miss Gertrude Webb departed Saturday for Jacksonville, Florida, where she is employed as a teacher of domestic science.

G. R. Turner spent several days the past week in Kansas City, Kas., called there by the death of his brother William Turner. The brother in early days lived in McGregor, working as bookkeeper in the office of the Flemming brothers. During his later years he attained considerable reputation as a civil engineer in railroad building in Central America.

LOCAL WOMAN GETS $30,000 FORTUNE

Mrs. Emma Whalen, 812 Badger Street, the Sole Heiress of Wealthy Idaho Grandfather

A message received from an attorney in the state of Idaho today by Mrs. Emma Whalen, 812 Badger street, notified her of the death of her aged grandfather and of the fact that he had left her his entire fortune of $30,000.

Mrs. Whalen's husband is an automobile driver for the Funk Candy company.

The notification of the fortune came as a surprise, as Mrs. Whalen had not heard from her grandfather in a long time, and only knew that he lived in the state of Idaho. Mrs. Whalen was the nearest relative.

Mrs. Whalen was not closely acquainted with the old man's personal affairs, and could not say today whether the amount named in the message was in real estate or securities.

According to Mrs. Whalen, her grandfather accumulated his riches from mining, later opening a bank in the state. She is of the opinion that he owned some mining property at the time of his death.

WIDOW IS GIVEN THE THIRD DEGREE

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 9.—Expected to unearth some of the details of the death of John Musso, wealthy Italian importer, whom coroner's physicians say was strangled to death, Milwaukee police were preparing to continue the third-degree of the importer's widow. After an examination continuing several hours, Mrs. Musso collapsed and was removed to the Emergency hospital for treatment. She clung steadfastly to her story that her husband was killed when he fell downstairs while in an intoxicated condition.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Wheat traders were somewhat encouraged today by the news from Liverpool, where prices were unchanged and futures on the local market held firm at last night's closing prices throughout the forenoon session. Another bullish factor was the absence of heavy receipts at the northwest markets.

Selling pressure in corn continued when the market opened today, but liberal buying checked further decline. Noon found corn futures at a slight advance over last night's closing figures.

Oats were firm from the start, supported by steady influences in the other grain pits. May gained 1/4 c and July 3/8 c in the forenoon.

Provisions continued yesterday's advance as hog prices mounted higher. There was considerable activity early in the day but the market grew quiet toward noon.

Corn turned higher in the afternoon, advancing 1/4 c for May and 3/8 c for July and closed strong.

Oats moved up a fraction on the advance in corn, but wheat closed at noon prices.

Provisions held the forenoon gains until the close.

MAKE PLANS FOR AWARDING LETTERS

Athletic Association of the High School Meets Last Night and Fixes Qualifications for "LC's"

TO GET EACH CLASS INTO GAMES

Football Men Required to Play in Three Full Contests or Part of Five to Be Decorated

The Athletic association of the high school held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and settled rules for awarding school emblems to athletes.

The association decided that football men would have to play in three full games or parts of five in order to secure an "LC" basketball men, in five full games or parts of seven,
and baseball men in four-fifths of the games played, with the exception of the pitcher who is required to play in three full games. The track men who succeed in making one or more points in a state or dual meet will also receive the official "LC." Men who are not on the regular teams may also receive an "LC" if the coach thinks that they have earned it by their work.

Football Emblem
The emblem which the football men will receive is a large black
"LC." The basketball men will receive a fancy monogram with the "LC." A smaller black "LC" will be given for baseball and track work.

Each class is expected to compete in class athletics and an emblem was decided on for each line of work.

In the track department an oak panel in the shape of a shield will be given to the victorious team. This shield will be decorated with the names of the contestants, the events, and the records of each one. Ribbons will also be given—blue for first, red for second and white for third place.

The high team will receive a shield lettered in red and black, bearing the names of the men on the team.
The winning class in basketball will also receive such a shield with the names of the team on it. The regular team will receive one also in red and black initials. A red and black football panel will be given to the regular team with their names on it in red and black letters.

Baseball League
During the baseball season there will be a league formed. This league will consist of teams from the literary societies, a faculty team and one team from each class. The champion of this league will likewise receive a baseball panel decorated with the names of the winners.

The regular high school team will receive a similar panel lettered in red and black.

These panels, which will all be made of highly polished oak, will be placed on the walls of the new gymnasium. They will not only serve as decorations but also as trophies which the succeeding classes will be able to admire.

A large banner is to be made and placed in the office of the physical director also.

Theodore Garder was elected manager of high school football next season.

Winona vs. La Crosse
This evening the local basketball team will play the Winona high in the second game of the season. The men expect to be able to beat the Winona crowd although it is rumored that Winona has a very strong team. There will probably be a preliminary game between the second team and some other team from the near neighborhood. After the game there will be a dance.

Patent Leather Dressing.
There is no method available to make old patent leather look as well well as new. The following dressing will improve the finish: Wax, 22 parts; olive oil, 60 parts; oil of turpentine, 30 parts. Melt with gentle heat the wax in the olive oil and as soon as melted move from the fire.
When nearly cold, stir in the turpentine.

ZIMMERMAN WITH FEDERAL LEAGUE?

Famous Cub Slugger in Chicago to Confer with Manager Joe
Tinker

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Perhaps C. W. Murphy of the Chicago Cubs may have an opportunity to turn his legal batteries on the Federals sooner than he expected, for Joseph Tinker, manager of the local Federal league team, announced today that Hein Zimmerman was on his way here to confer with him relative to signing an outlaw contract. If Zimmerman is signed he may go to some team outside of Chicago.

Tinker has obtained the best results of any of the outlaw managers, according to report, and he is ready to let the public in on his secret, but he will have to wait for the other clubs in the league to get their lineup ready before he can disclose his team.

Eight big leaguers are to be on the Chicago team, and Tinker says without any hesitation that the fans will accept his team without a murmur when the names are made known.

Current Talk

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—"Mexican Joe" Rivers started training in a local gymnasium today for the campaign in which he hopes to polish off several eastern boxers. His first engagement is with Ad Wolgast at Milwaukee January 23.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Jack Johnson is an expensive fighter. He announces today he would not enter any ring for less than $20,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Mike Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight, was expected to arrive today to finish his training for his bout here Monday night with Bob McAllister of California. McAllister posted a $250 forfeit to make 162 pounds ringside.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Three new world's swimming records were hung up today, the result of the showing made in the Central Amateur Athletic union contests last night by Harry Hebler and Perry McGilivray, who were members of the American Olympic team at the Stockholm games. Hebler won the 220 yard swim in 2:21, beating the old record of 2:25 2-5 held by C. M. Daniels of New York. While swimming this distance he covered 200 yards in 2:07 2-5, beating the 200 yard record held by Daniels of 2:14.

McGilivray swam 120 yards in 1:08 2-5, beating the old figure, 1:10, also held by Daniels.

TOURISTS TEACH KIDS THE GAME

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 9.—Eighteen happy youngsters wearing real baseball uniforms and equipped with league balls, bats and gloves from an American factory set out to introduce the American game to the youngsters of Australia. The uniforms and equipment were gifts from Owner Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox, who bought them before the Sox-Giant tourists left for Adelaide.

Help!
"See that bewiskered man walking with Miss Peach. He's very hirsute, isn't he?" "No, he's her suitor."

"KING" COLE TO JOIN OUTLAWS

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—"King" Cole, former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, and who was drafted from the Columbus American association club last fall by Manager Frank Chance of the New York American league team, has signed a Federal league contract and will be one of Manager Tinker's star twirlers in the new baseball organization.

Confirmation of the fact that Cole had affixed his signatures to a contract was offered today by an official of the Federal league.

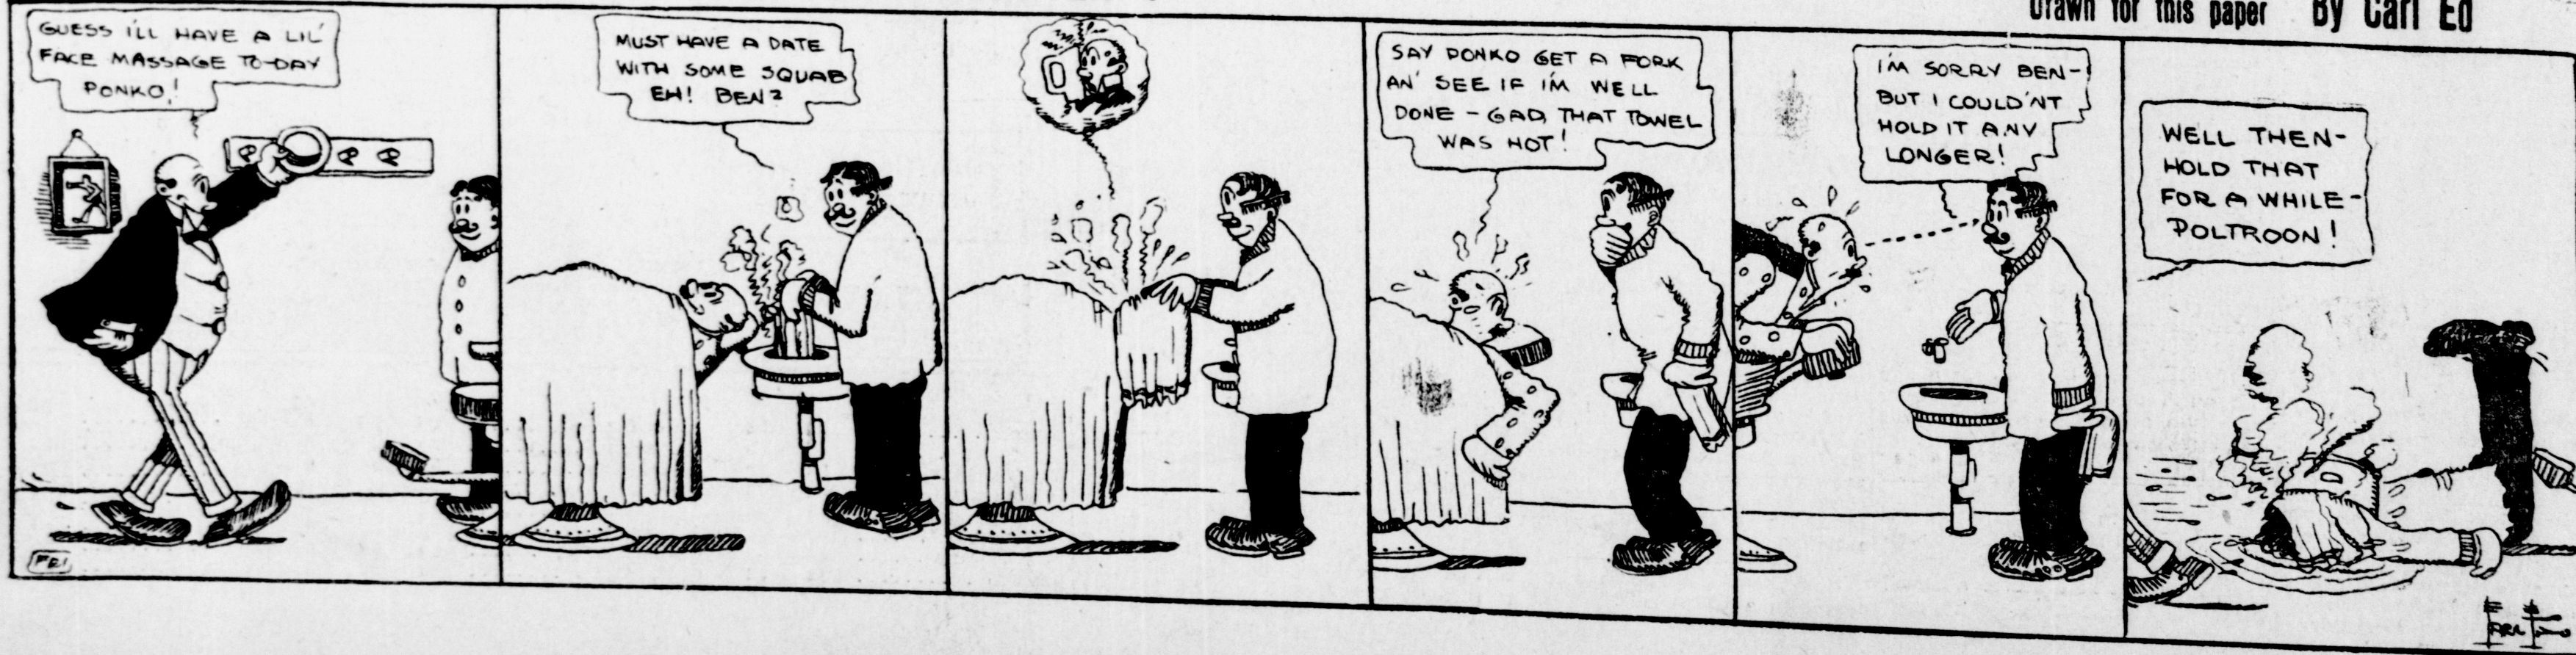

Blissful Ignorance.
He—"They say he has more money than he knows what to do with." She—"Ah, such ignorance must be bliss."
